JOIN THE LINNAEAN SOCIETY OF NEW YORK

Do you remember encountering that bird, so beautiful and unexpected that it left you in awe? Perhaps the chirp of the cicada has piqued your curiosity ever since you first heard it? Have you been called “bird nerd” more than once? So have we. Whether you don’t yet own a pair of binoculars or just completed your Ph.D. in evolutionary biology—we invite you to join our community!

Mission: The Linnaean Society of New York provides a forum for the sharing and advancement of science-based knowledge through a program of lectures and field trips. It fosters an appreciation of the natural world with a special emphasis on birds. Founded in 1878, the Society comprises dedicated amateurs and professionals interested in the study, preservation, and enjoyment of nature and the environment.

Your membership dues support this work, so add your name to a roster of members, some illustrious but most anonymous, who for over 140 years have gathered to learn and explore.

Membership perks: Learn from more than 16 evening lectures. Explore the natural history of the Tri-state area and beyond on 50+ field trips. Study the Proceedings and Transactions, the Society’s research and natural history publications. And gather at the Annual Membership Dinner and Fall Homecoming.

Becoming a Member is easy: just submit an application with your contact information, sponsorship, & payment.

What is sponsorship? Following in the tradition of many other societies formed at the turn of the last century, sponsorship simply means that a current member recommends you as a new member.

Don’t know any members? Not to worry—at every lecture and field trip, a “Membership Ambassador” will happily answer questions and become your sponsor.

On a monthly basis, sponsored applicants are approved by the LSNY Council and voted in by members. (We promise it’s much less intimidating than it sounds!) Your membership will be confirmed via a welcome packet, which includes a schedule of events (lectures, field trips, field work opportunities, etc.) and membership directory.

Get involved: Join a walk, attend a lecture, become a sponsor, and help spread the word! On the Web: linnaeannewyork.org, Facebook: Linnaean Society of New York, and Twitter: @LinnaeanNY.

Thank you for your support, which helps make our mission possible.
